The Code of Fair Competition for the Small Arms and Ammunition Manufacturing Industry having been approved in my Order dated March 22, 1934, subject to certain conditions and

WHEREAS the condition that the provision in Section 3, Article VII of said Code allowing a waiting period prior to the effective date after the filing of revised schedules be stayed for a period of sixty (60) days from the effective date of this Code does not appear as a condition of the approval of the Code of Fair Competition for the Small Arms and Ammunition Manufacturing Industry.

REPORT TO THE PRESIDENT

The PRESIDENT,
The White House.

SIR: This is a report on a proposed Supplemental Administrative Order amending the Order of Approval for the Code of Fair Competition for the Small Arms and Ammunition Manufacturing Industry.

This Code was approved by me on March 22, 1934, and Article VII, Section 3, of this Code provides a waiting period prior to the effective date, after the filing of revised price schedules.

In conformance with Office Order 63, dated January 25, 1934, the Supplemental Administrative Order amends my Order of Approval of this Code to provide a stay for a period of sixty (60) days from the effective date of this Code, or after the completion of a study of open price association now being conducted by the National Recovery Administration, before the provisions in Article VII, Section 3, pertaining to a waiting period become effective.

For these reasons, therefore, I have approved this Amendment.

Respectfully,

HUGH S. JOHNSON,
Administrator.

WASHINGTON, D.C.,
March 29, 1934.

Approved Code No. 354. Amendment No. 1.
